

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

The present invention provides a power injector apparatus that can supply two power sources, one from the Ethernet and the other from AC power. The Internet device can select the AC power as a power source
5 when the Internet device requires power exceeding the Hub or the Switch can supply. Moreover, the Internet device can select the Ethernet as the power source when the supplied power is sufficient.